

"Who Am I?" Rubric

Criteria	Comprehensive (3pts)	Progressing (2pts)	Emerging (1pt)	Feedback
Authenticity & Self-Reflection	The presentation deeply reflects personal identity, showing genuine, brave, and thoughtful self-reflection on personal beliefs and biases.	The presentation includes self-reflection and authenticity, with opportunities to further explore depth or personal insights/beliefs and biases.	The presentation touches on identity but could be more reflective, personal, or intentional.
Engagement & Cohort Connection	The presentation fully engages the audience, fostering stronger cohort relationships and deeper understanding.	The presentation engages the audience and contributes to connection, with opportunities to strengthen engagement or relatability.	The presentation is present but may not fully engage the audience or deepen cohort connections.
Presentation Style	The delivery is comfortable, clear, well-paced, and within the 5-minute time limit, ensuring effective communication.	The delivery is mostly clear and within time, with minor areas for improving pacing, confidence, or clarity.	The presentation could be more structured, clear, or better paced to enhance communication.
Expression of Uniqueness	The presentation strongly conveys a sense of self, showcasing personal uniqueness and individuality in a compelling way.	The presentation highlights personal uniqueness, with room to further refine self-expression or emphasis.	The presentation touches on individuality but could be more distinct, intentional, or expressive.
				Total: /10

